The Carousel

During the Victorian era funfairs moved from town to town. One of their most popular attractions was the carousel, with its brightly painted wooden horses rising and dipping, round and round, while the young riders squealed with delight. The atmosphere of this era has been recalled at THE CAROUSEL, with its fountains and prancing horses – magnificent stained glass roof and Victorian architecture.

The Carousel is ideal for a day jaunt or a weekend stay. It is situated 55 km north of Pretoria on the N1 to Warmbaths – literally just around the corner – and it offers entertainment for the whole family.

While mum and dad play the slot machines or gamble in the casino children can attend a show at Giggle Children's Theatre where they will be entertained by Giggles the Clown and the magician or they can watch great videos or attend one of the five cinemas showing movies for young people. They can while away time in the Video Games Arcade which has the latest in hightec machinery to challenge their skills or play 10 pin bowling in the alley or even accompany mom on a shopping spree in the many speciality shops. Then of course there is the real life carousel on which to ride – all day if you wish at no charge.

For the hungry there are numerous well-known restaurants that surround the carousel or you can pay a visit to the Victorian Court Coffee Shop.

All the fun of the fair and a whirl of non-stop entertainment for the entire family – that's The Carousel, an entertainment complex which is without parallel in Southern Africa.

Six lucky readers can win a day at The Carousel with free entrance into the entertainment complex and the Cheyenne Salon, lunch at the Victorian Court Coffee Shop, complimentary movie tickets and dinner for mum and dad at the Players Restaurant or Residents Lounge as well as R50 worth of slot vouchers for them to try their luck at becoming instant millionaires!!! All you have to do to win one of these magnificent prizes is to answer the following questions.

C·A·R·O·U·S·E·L C·O·M·P·E·T·I·T·I·O·N

1. How far is The Carousel from Pretoria?

2. What era has been recreated at The Carousel?

3. Name three things for children to do at The Carousel.

Send your answers to K.I.D.Z. Magazine, Carousel Competition, P.O. Box 65532, BENMORE 2010.

The closing date of the competition is 20 November 1992 so HURRY, HURRY, HURRY!!!
Prizes are valid from 1–20 December 1992.

HI KIDZ

Ons hoop julle het almal 'n lekker Kersvakansie gehad en uitsien na die nuwe skooljaar. In hierdie uitgawe van K.I.D.Z. is daar baie kompetisies om aan deel te neem – wen een dag by die fabelagtige 'Lost City' asook 'n wonderlike reis na die Amasone.

Congratulations to Irene Primary School for winning the IBM PS/1 Computer and to Laura Gibbons who sent in the winning entry. Well done! Remember to put your name and address on all entry forms. There were so many entries to various competitions that were sent in without names. The standard of entries for the art competition were not up to our expectations so we are holding it over until next time. Come on Kidz (and teachers) let's see what you can do.

Hope you have a great 1993.

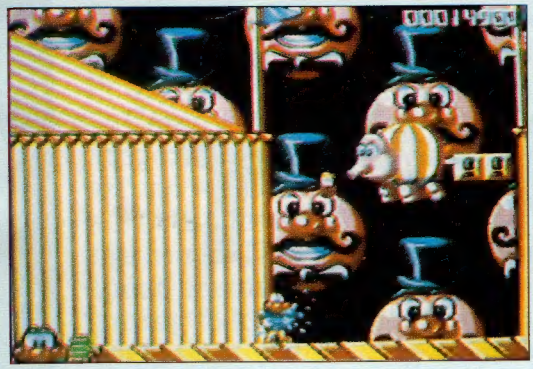
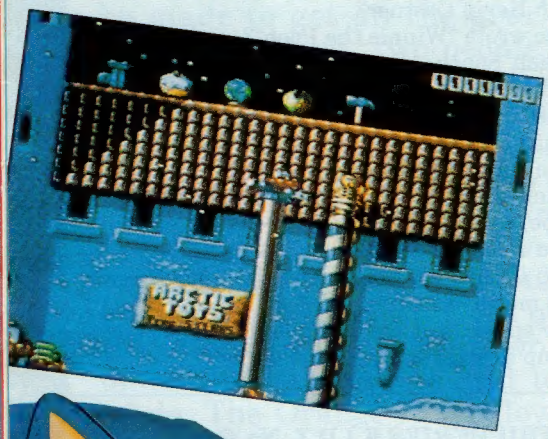
VIDEO GAMES

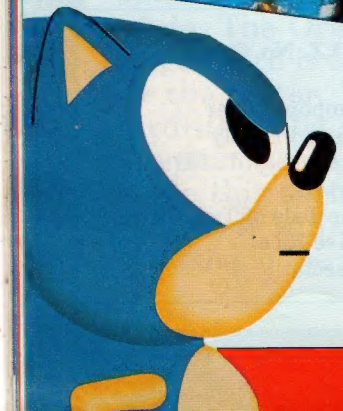
Sega the new wonder game hits South Africa

Sega is the new name on the lips of everyone who is interested in electronic games. Sega has recently been launched in South Africa and really risen to the top as the world's no. 1 serious fun game. What made Sega take over as top of the electronic pops was their launch of a 16 bit mega-drive, their superior graphics and sound and speed of play especially in advanced levels. Besides that there is a better selection of types of games, like Sonic the Hedgehog which put Sega up to being one of the top electronic games in the world. They now have up to 140 titles available in this country.

Some fun titles are Castle of Illusion starring Micky Mouse, James Pond II, Spiderman, Batman and Dick Tracey, spectacular adventure hits are Home Alone, Back to the Future III and Predator 2. Michael Jackson's Moonwalker along with Sonic The Hedgehog will test your capability as a gifted player.







How to be a better game player

It's every gamer's nightmare to be stuck one level from the end, to be beaten by a friend or even your big or little brother and not be able to see the level all your friends are raving about . . . Most of the time you want to hit your screen with frustration, but there are ways of sorting out your problem . . .

First of all let go and forget your problems. Relax and think carefully about what each game requires you to achieve. A fast brain will always do better than fast fingers. Identify what needs to be done as your first step, without knowing how can you practice?? Practice makes perfect as every teacher will say, but practice at your electronic game makes sure that your fingers and hands can do everything you know they need to do automatically. Practice builds up control pad or joystick skills and makes your brain more familiar with what to do, up to the point where you can become more or less automatic.

Games which involve unusual combinations of joystick movement will come easier to you after applied practice, and your increased level of skill will allow you to execute more difficult manoeuvres and ultimately improve your play by giving you more options. Focus your practice by setting yourself a goal. Practice with a set amount of improvement in mind. Don't stop until you can achieve your practice goal regularly. Bring your brain into play, as mental practice. Thinking through the whole game and what you need to do, can actually improve your skills. Quality practice is better than quantity practice. Don't miss out on your homework to practice, you can improve more with a rest or change of routine. Study the game, and simplify your decisions, to make it possible to anticipate what you need to do. Even if you just watch the game on the display mode, it will give you an idea of what you'll need to do later on, having advanced knowledge will allow you to anticipate, this method is an excellent way to help you in your school work too. When you play with a friend let him play a warm up solo game first then watch how he plays. Once you know your friends moves, then you can catch him out more easily. Play your own game by confusing the opposition. Playing a practice game is still not a bad idea as you can show your friend just a few of your hottest moves. This applies to computer games as well. When your friend sees your hot moves and new techniques it will surprise him and slow down his reaction time. Mix up your moves, don't always use your favourites. Keep your opponents guessing, by giving them many different tactics. This slows your opponent down as they cannot guess what you are going to do next. Remember, the more they've got to worry about the more they'll worry about, and while they're worrying you'll be winning. Don't lose your temper with the game, the more angry you get the more your opponent will be happy and win. Go slowly, stay cool, use your brain, and you should score big all the time. Work at it, and keep yourself sharp mentally it helps with your school work too, you can be just one step ahead of the others in brain power, by being a better game player. BUT A WORD OF WARNING DON'T LET IT INTERFERE WITH YOUR SCHOOL WORK, AND LIMIT YOUR PLAY TO AN HOUR A DAY MAXIMUM!

COMING IN OUR NEXT ISSUE

Sega Game Feature

Sonic is back! He's spinning across the screen like blue lightning. Hold the phone! What's that behind him? It's moving just as fast...and it's orange! Hey, that must be Tails. Big news. This time around, Sonic has a partner. And what a friend he is!

The best news is that Sonic 2 is coming on mega drive and on Game Gear. Each game features Sonic, Tails, and the egg-headed Dr. Robotnik. Both games have two endings, one if you find all the Chaos Emeralds, and one if you don't. Both have all the things you loved about the first Sonic. But the plots, acts, and objects are totally new. This is Sonic like you've never seen him before.

Here's an in-depth look at everything you want to know about Sonic 2 mega drive and Sonic 2 Game Gear, like only Sega can give.

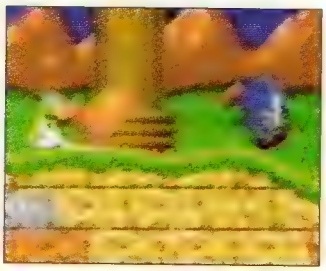
SONIC & TAILS ALL THE RIGHT MOVES

Sonic and his two-tailed, foxy friend; Miles Prower.

Your lovable hedgehog is just the same. He's a speedy blue dude with an attitude, who just wants to have some fun. Sonic lets Tails tag along because he likes the foxy little guy. It also makes Sonic feel good that Tails wants to be like him.

THE SONIC SPIN ATTACK

Just point him in the right direction, press down the D-Button...and let him go! The Spin Attack can get Sonic out of just about any tight situation, over loops and through corkscrews.



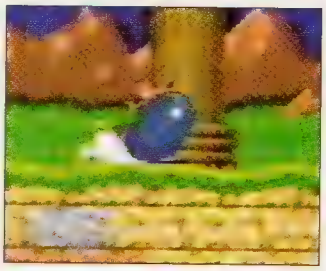
Every Sonic fan knows this move.

MILES TAILS

Miles Prower (Tails for short), is Sonic's newest friend. Tails is four years old and really wants to be brave and adventurous like his older buddy. He follows that hedgehog everywhere and helps whenever he can. Sometimes he gets under Sonic's feet or gets lost. But Tails can always find his way back. You see, Tails has some unique abilities of his own.

Sometimes Tails gets moving a little too fast and gets lost off the screen. When this happens, he spins his two tails like a helicopter and comes flying back. Pretty neat! Why do you think Sonic calls him Tails?

THE TAILS SPIN ATTACK



Sonic taught him this trick.

Just like Sonic, Tails can spin up to crunch just about anything in his way. In mega drive solo play, Tails will follow Sonic's lead and spin up at the same time.

HELICOPTERING

Lose Tails and he'll come helicoptering back on his twin tails.

SONIC 2 ON MEGA DRIVE

Sonic 2 mega drive is an 8 Mega spectacular loaded to the hilt with fun, action and surprises. It's three games in one. You can play solo, with a friend co-operatively, or competitively in an all-new split screen display. In the solo mode, Tails follows your every move (kinda like a little brother). Sometimes he zooms ahead, getting Sonic into trouble. Definitely not your average fox.

CONGRATULATIONS TO Clinton Botha from Blairgowrie Primary School for winning the Sega Master II from our competition in K.I.D.Z. No. 3.

WHAT'S NEW REVIEW

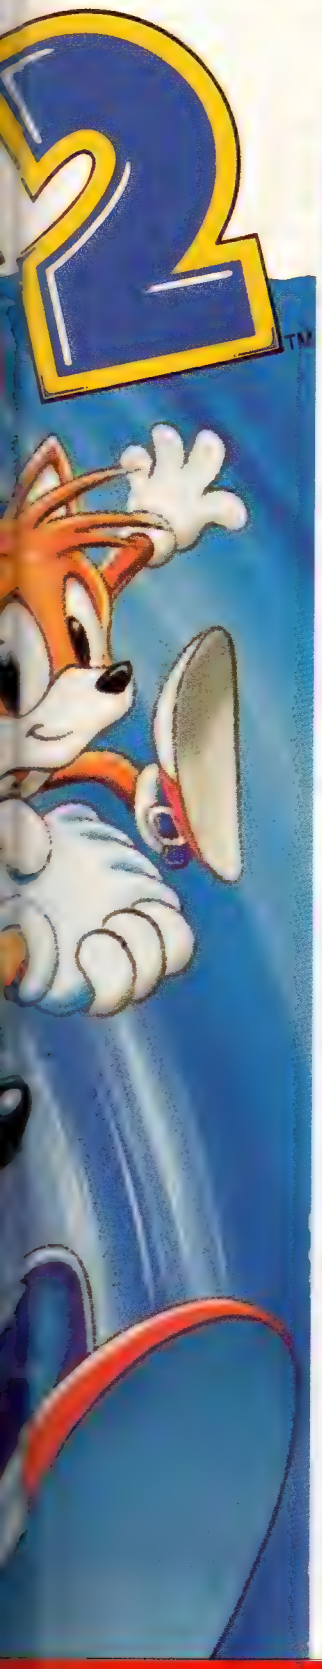
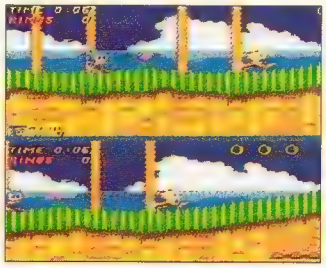
In two player co-operative mode, one player controls Sonic and the other controls Tails. The two player competitive mode is new. Each player controls Sonic. Each has a Tails tagging along, just like in solo mode. The winner is determined by who finishes the round first.
Dr. Robotnik has kidnapped all of Sonic's animal friends on South Island. He's using them to create a Death Egg, which will allow him to take over the world. Uh-uh. Not while Sonic is around.



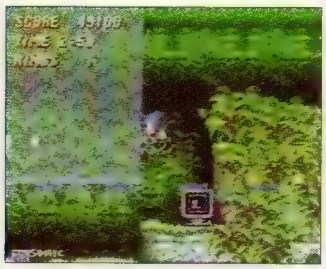


Two-player competitive mode splits the screen for twice the fun.

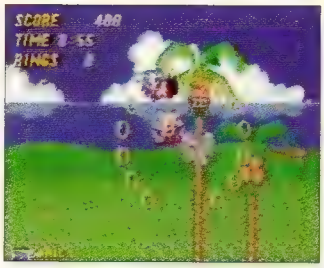
RINGS 'N THINGS

Rings get you points. And they save you from losing a life. If you have rings and take a hit, you lose your rings but keep your life.

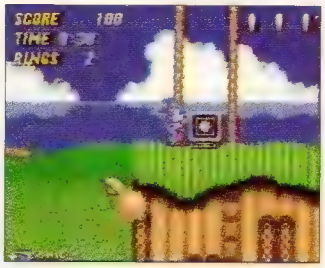
Smash the monitor to get 10 rings.



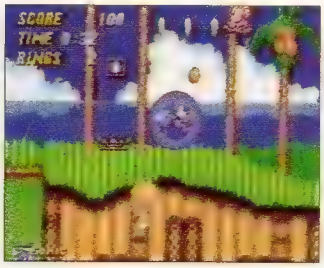
Put on these red high tops for awesome speed.



Hit something that's anti-sonic and you'll lose all your rings.



Here's a shield that protects Sonic from one hit while letting him keep his rings. Smash this block with a spin attack. The icon will pop up and disappear. The blue circle is Sonic's protection.



Springs bounce Sonic and Tails around like pinballs...letting them get to hard-to-reach places.

THE MAGIC COMPANY .... GREAT NEWS

Hi Kids! Looking forward to your December holiday? Here's some great news. The Magic Company has recently opened a Fireworks Factory in the Somerset Mall in the Cape and in the La Lucia Mall in Natal. So while on holiday you can still enjoy all the fun and excitement that only The Magic Company can provide.

What is The Magic Company? I'm sure that most of you have heard of The Fireworks Factory at Bruma Lake or perhaps the Cartoon Factory at the Fourways Mall. These fun-filled "factories" (and the "factories" listed below) all belong to The Magic Company.

The Magic Company offers the hottest, the best and the widest variety of games. Experience the thrills and spills of a Grand Prix driver for those who like their action fast, and challenge your friends on the hairpin bends and dangerous detours of the Virtua Racer or Suzuka-8 Hours driving games. Boxing fanatics can test their reflexes on Title Fight or you can shoot it out in a live action gun battle with Mad Dog McCree until the final showdown. The Magic Company even has the latest "Pinballosaurus" - it's Jurassic Park! Watch out for the big T-Rex – you'll know he's approaching when you feel the cabinet rumbling. You'll have more fun than anyone!

Most of the "factories" have redemption machines where you meet zany characters like Big Bertha and Buddy Bear. Play these machines and others such as Hot Shots, Full Court Frenzy and Pop-a-Ball which pay out tickets as you score points . . . The more tickets you collect, the bigger the prize you can win.

All the "factories"have specially trained staff to help you to operate the games. They are also there to ensure that you have a wonderful time in a safe and friendly environment. And kids, can you think of a better place to have a birthday party? Contact the manager at the "factory" closest to you, to arrange a birthday party with a difference.

The Magic Company's wide variety of games caters for all of us – young and old. So, bring your family and friends along to experience the best entertainment ever. It's pure magic!

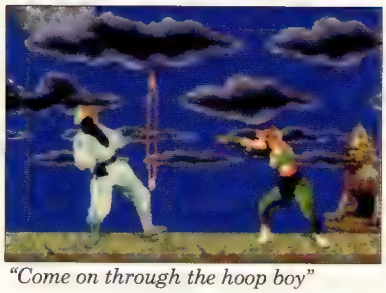
MORTAL KOMBAT



"Come on through the hoop boy"

The game that has been gobbling away at everyones money on the coin-op machine has finally been converted for the SEGA home entertainment system. The game features superb sound and digitized graphics that give it the most realistic fighting sequences ever. In one player mode the aim of the game is to defeat each of your opponents, climbing the tournament ladder as you win. The final fight has you battling against an evil monk called Shang Tsung who can turn into any of the fighters in the game. The game also features endurance fights which are much tougher than the one-on-one fights as you must defeat two opponents in a row. Bonus stages between alternate bouts also test your skills and award you with extra points. The game features spectacular special moves such as teleports, flame throwing and flying kicks. In addition death moves are employed when you beat your opponent into the ground as he sways to-and-fro writhing in agony. If you own the Power Stick II, the game is even more enjoyable as it utilizes all 6 buttons. With all the hype over the blood scenes on 'CNN' and 'TIME' magazine, SEGA has utilized a password which gives your parents control over what you kids may or may not see! Mortal Kombat is shaping up to be the best fighting game on Mega Drive, Master System and Game Gear.

JURASSIC PARK

Read the book, see the movie, and now . . . play the game! The game contains a similar plot to the movie and follows the same storyline. The difference being that you may choose to become one of the two leading characters, Dr Grant or the Velociraptor. For you as Dr Grant, with an arsenal of weapons, the object of the game is to stay alive, through harsh terrain while being persued by some verocious dinosaurs. Alternatively as the Velociraptor, armed with razor sharp teeth and claws, you have to eat the entire cast of the film/game. By changing the character you get a change of scene, the levels are slightly different for each of the characters so you are in effect getting two games in one. The animation is very smooth, creating the creepy hostile atmosphere that the game essentially needs. Through certain stages the game provides different challenges that you have to master, for example piloting a boat through hazardous rivers. The graphics are quite breath-taking and the animation's incredibly realistic (real

BUBSY THE BOBCAT IN CLAWS ENCOUNTERS OF THE FURRED KIND

Accolade has created a spectacular 16 level game with an all new lovable character, 'Bubsy the Bobcat'. The Woolie queens Poly and Ester are out to loot the earth of all its yarn balls, unfortunately for them, Bubsy the super hero of earth is out to spoil their scheme, and with your aid the woolies stand no chance. Although some of the game ideas seem to originate from Sonic the Hedgehog, the game is still different and provides endless entertainment. The graphics are exceptional and the animation gives the game a cartoony feel. There are six basic backgrounds, one for every three levels and of course one for the final confrontation. The game features tons of digitized speech, along with background music. There are many different objects in the game which adds to its excitement, such as bouncy branches, water slides, cars, roller coasters, rocket cars and log rafts. There is also a variety of enemies such as Crumbleweeds, beavers and tree frogs. All in all Bubsy is a highly entertaining, action packed, multi-scrolling game which gives SEGA players their moneys worth.

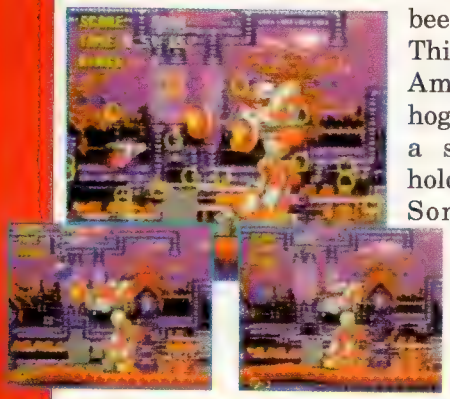
SONIC CD

The lean, mean, blue super sonic spinning machine is back and lucky MEGA-CD owners will be able to join him on a brand new fun-filled adventure. Dr. Robotnik has once again been up to his evil doings. This time he has captured Amy (the young hedgehog) and taken control of a special planet that holds secret time crystals. Sonic has to beat Dr. Robotnik to the time crystals or else Dr. Robotnik will use time travel to conquer the earth.



Sonic CD features superb graphics, enhanced animation and CD quality sound. Due to the high capacity of storage space on a CD, SEGA have added a cartoon to both the beginning and end of the game. There are more characters than ever before and even guest appearances of those from previous games. Seven zones each consisting of three levels and each level consisting of three time zones make this sonic the largest and longest of its kind. The bonus levels are spectacular and are made in 3D. With all these levels you might wonder how you will ever finish it. Due to the extra memory on the MEGA-CD you can save your game at the end of each level. This means you won't have to start right from the beginning each time you play and that your high scores will still be kept even after you switch your MEGA-CD off. Sonic CD is currently the best game to step onto the MEGA-CD games chart and should be the first in MEGA-CD player's collection.

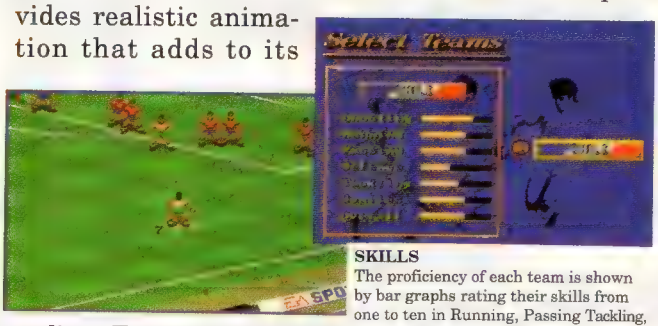
FIFA INTERNATIONAL SOCCER

Electronic Arts, the SEGA masters of sports, have unleashed FIFA International Soccer, which makes other soccer games on both the SEGA console and IBM computers seem disappointing. Electronic Arts have triumphed where others have failed. The game captures the true essence of soccer and provides realistic animation that adds to its realism. Forty-eight national teams, 960 players with statistics in 13 areas namely skill, speed, reaction, ball control, power, accuracy, agility, slides, bicycles, headers, stamina, passing and aggression will ensure that each teams play will vary and provide them with their own unique strengths and weaknesses. There are exhibition matches, tournaments, playoffs and league matches. The crowds yell, roar and even chant.



SKILLS
The proficiency of each team is shown by bar graphs rating their skills from one to ten in Running, Passing Tackling, 'Keeping, Defence and Overall

Players roll on the ground clutching their ankles in agony when they are fouled. After each goal there is a little celebration. Players flip out and start doing handstands and slides and the screen becomes an animated dot matrix stadium monitor, showing the crowds doing a wave or even the cheer-leaders cheering. The game allows up to four players to play at once, either on the same side or on opposing sides. FIFA International Soccer is the only soccer game endorsed by FIFA and it is worth every cent because its long lastability will have you coming back for more.

GLOBAL GLADIATORS

Although Mcdonald's (the largest burger outlet in the world) have not yet made an appearance in South Africa, South Africans can experience the Mcdonald's Global Gladiators on the SEGA console, so strap on your GooShooter and join Mick and Mack the Global Gladiators on a quest to neutralize the monsters of Slime World, The Mystical Forest, Toxic-Town and Arctic World. Global Gladiators is an environmently friendly game in which you take control of either Mick and Mack and set out to destroy the monsters which pollute the earth. There is a bonus stage where you have to recycle litter which is divided into three groups (glass bottles, cans and newspapers) into different recycling bins. The game has some of the best animation with each character having 250 frames of animation, and the best scrolling ever on the SEGA console. In addition some of the music is composed from digitized music samples which provides an amazing change from the normal SEGA music.

Global Gladiators is a challenging game which will prove tough to beat.

NBA JAM

You've played it in the arcades, now it's time to Jam on the Mega-Drive. Acclaim bring you the true thrills of two-on-two basketball with great graphics and sound. Whether you're a Lakers or Celtics fan it does not matter, all 27 NBA teams are included in the game. The game includes some spectacular speech such as shouts of "he's on fire", "ugly shot" and "jams it in".

Flashbulbs pop all over the shop as our be-vested hero leaps astoundingly high into the air to deliver rousingly unstoppable slam-drunk. Lawks!

The controls are simple keeping the gameplay fast and exciting. Each player has different characteristics and "signature moves". Some of the more ridiculous but spectacular "dunks" include 720-degree spins while leaping six feet to slam the ball into the hoop and twenty feet somersaults into the air before canonning two points home.

Little pieces of video footage brighten up the half time stats.

A brief statistical run-down is given at half time based on each players speed, defensive prowess, dunking skill and three point scoring ability. Whether you're a basketball fan or not NBA JAM will keep you competing against your friends for hours on end. So go get it now and JAM.

SKITCHIN'

Skitchin' is a fictional sport in which you race opponents roller blading along ordinary roads in America. Simply roller blading down the road isn't going to get you to the finish line very fast, so what you have to do is hitch a ride on the back of a car. With other traffic on the road hanging on the car isn't going to be fast enough. To master the sport you have to slingshot from one car to the next. It's not as easy as it might sound, it's illegal and the cops will try to "bust" you along the course. To make your life even more difficult your opponents do not believe in fair play. Armed with everything from a nunchaka to a crowbar they will try to trip you every step of the way.

Don't spend any time looking at the scenery, you've got the other Skitchers to worry about. And on the later levels some of them are really vicious.

The race consists of 12 tracks. In order to progress to the next track you have to finish within the top 5 positions. At the end of each race you will receive cash prizes according to how you performed during the race. With this money you can buy better roller blades and even pads and gloves for protection. The graphics aren't the greatest on the Mega-Drive but the gameplay is addictive and the two player head to head option will keep you and your friends battling for days. So grab your roller blades and get ready to Skitch.

Grab on to this car, Skitch for a while (make sure you can duck to avoid being seen by the driver) then slingshot off and try to catch that car in the distance.

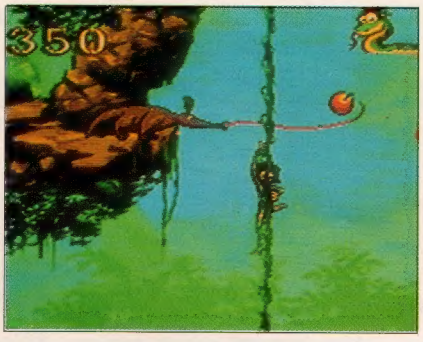
SEGA

This month was an exciting month. Nikki Hemmings from Virgin Interactive Games in the U.K. came to visit us in South Africa, Virgin is the company that brought to life Cool Spot, Aladdin and The Jungle Book. The quality of their games has even made Disney eye out the games industry. Nikki Hemmings gave us some insight on forthcoming games for PC and Sega Mega-Drive.

This month's reviews are on The Jungle Book and Dragon, both of which were developed by Virgin and should be available in South Africa soon.

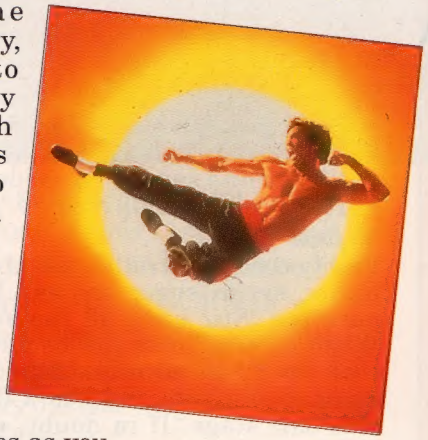
The Jungle Book

Step aside Tarzan, Mowgli the man-cub is swinging onto the Mega-Drive. Yes, Disney's fabulous animated movie has finally been turned into a game. You control Mowgli in search of the man-village.The game play in 'The Jungle Book' is very much like that of Aladdin's. You have to complete each level by reaching the end point of the level with a certain number of gems. If you collect all the gems on that level, you will be transported to a bonus level, Virgin have managed to once again improve their animation. If you leave Mowgli on his own, he'll start dancing and even balance a banana on his nose. The little additions to the graphics, such as the butterflies and falling leaves makes the game very realistic. There are many levels to navigate through, you start off running along the jungle and swinging from vine to vine, you will then visit the tree village and even jump along the ruin city. There are many opponents who will try and stop you along the way. Crazed monkeys, poisonous scorpions and even kamikaze warthogs. At your disposal are various weapons such as lethal bananas and super flying boomerangs. 'The Jungle Book' may seem easy at first but as you progress through the levels you'll find yourself battling to reach your goal. With awesome graphics and cool gameplay, 'The Jungle Book' is guaranteed to turn you wild, So swing along to your nearest video games branch and grab yourself a copy.



Dragon

Get ready for Kung Fu madness as Bruce Lee comes alive on your Mega-Drive. Dragon is a beat-'em-up game like Mortal Kombat but provides you with different challenges along the way. For example in the ice factory after you have wiped off most of the opponents energy, you will have to destroy the many ice blocks which stream towards you in order to reach the person on the right side. The fighting scenes in Dragon are incredible, unlike other fighting games, you will be able to change special moves as you progress through the game. There are over 40 attack moves and multiple combination moves, so you're sure to have all you need to battle the various opponents.



The digitize-graphics which were taken from the movie are a welcome break between each level, The realistic sound effects, such as the neck breaking sound enhances the game. With up to three player game mode, 10 levels and bonus levels this game has a guaranteed long lastability. So put on your black belt, Dragon packs a punch and we guarantee that you'll get a kick out of it.
